

You're invited to the Preservation and Museum Community Town Hall Meeting on Civil War Monuments

The Virginia Association of Museums and the Virginia Conservation Association are joining together to host an open, facilitated dialogue for museum and preservation professionals about the current environment in Virginia and elsewhere around Civil War monuments and symbols. We want this event to provide a space for an honest, non-judgmental conversation about this complicated issue and how we, as professionals, can help address it and provide guidance to city leaders and legislators.

We invite all members of the museum and preservation communities to participate in this dialogue; due to space restrictions, we request that you RSVP for the event. (space is first come, first served, so please make your reservation soon. This is not an exhaustive discussion, and if this community conversation proves valuable for our members, we hope to offer future opportunities on topics related to the field.
